Safeguarding Newsletter Spring term 2023

Safeguarding is EVERYONE's Responsibility

Updates:

All new staff have now completed safeguarding induction training and have log ins for CPOMS. Shaun, Debbie, John and Linda have all completed their safeguarding update training. DSL's have a meeting planned for 8 March @ 3.30 You will all have been sent a link to the EduCompli training – please complete at your earliest convenience.

Shaun and Debbie addressed the school council regarding safeguarding and Debbie has begun presenting safeguarding assemblies to the students.

In addition to the daily messages given as part of our pastoral system and curriculum regarding keeping safe, Liam Webb has been delivering some targeted work to identified students around misogyny, and we have been working with Safenet who have been delivering some sessions to students about staying safe on line. If you think a student would benefit from targeted intervention, please let one of the DSL's know. There continues to be concern about the influence Andrew Tate has on pupils -There has been an informative documentary on BBC Three – The dangerous Rise of Andrew Tate worth a watch.

CPOMS reporting Thankyou for your diligent and accurate reporting which helps to keep all our students safe; just to let you know that since September we have had over 600 reports on CPOMS. Some of the best reporting describes the incident, and also describes the actions taken so far by staff which is really helpful.

Reminder

Child on Child Abuse should now be the terminology ALL stakeholders use to describe harmful behaviour between children.

Early Help

Sarah Leaman, Annie Dixon and Debbie Rickard have all now completed the Early Help training and are completing Early Help Assessments with some families. The threshold for the Children with Disabilities team has changed and EHA's are essential if we are to get the families the help they need; this is about getting the right help at the right time. We have a named senior family support worker who is working closely with us to try and get some support for families. If a referral to social services for additional support is required, we are increasingly noticing that parents and carers will have been expected to complete a parenting programme.

To support with this, we will be hosting the 'Triple P Teens' course in school, (date to be confirmed) which is a parenting and family support system designed to equip parents with the tools they need to support and manage behavioural and emotional problems. Triple P doesn't tell you how to parent. It's more like a toolbox of ideas. It aims to prevent problems in the family, school and community before they arise and to create family environments that encourage children to realise their potential. If you think you have parents who would benefit, please let Debbie know.

Thankyou once again for all your hard work- YOU really do make a difference.
